Washington, D.C.
May 13-15, 2013

Advance Program

This year is the 60th anniversary of the nuclear energy industry, marking the founding of its original policy organization, the Atomic Industrial Forum—from which NEI is descended—and President Dwight Eisenhower’s “Atoms for Peace” address at the United Nations. Susan Eisenhower, granddaughter of the late president and an internationally recognized voice on national security, will give a keynote speech.

Business attire is appropriate for the conference and all special events.
